Best Practices During a Global Health Crisis

3.27.2020

Thank you for joining us! My name is Shanna Bright and I'm the founder of Private Clubs Online.

My mission is to help you drive revenue and retain members through strategic member communication.

Shanna has spoken with several CMAA Chapters across the nation, and has presented at national conferences for CMAA, ACCP and PCMA. She presented "Happy Kids Make Future Members" at the 2020 CMAA World Conference and Club Business Expo. Shanna will return to the 2nd Annual CMAA Communication Summit in March and will present "Say Cheese! Capturing Quality Photos and Video of Member Events."

Lynne LaFond DeLuca is the Executive Director of the Association of Club Catering & Event Professionals, an association dedicated to the education and advancement of the Catering & Event Professionals in private clubs. The ACCP National Conference has earned acclaim as one of the most educational and inspirational conferences in the industry with surprises and impactful experiences at every turn.

She has worked in the private club industry for 28 years and loves helping clubs achieve financial success while providing a superior member experience through member and private events.

Named one of “The Most Influential Women in the Private Club Industry”

The ACCP has been named “Association of the Year”

2019 Gary Player Educator of the Year Award

Question from a club: "My club wants to start a weekly webinar series focusing on a member each week. As we have so many members who have such wonderful knowledge, we hope it would be beneficial to the membership. I've been tasked to first find the technology that's best, and then make a schedule of content." So clubs, what technology platform would you use for this? I use GoToWebinar for our ACCP webinars and I have also used Zoom. Comments? Different platforms that you use?

Need a reminder of how relevant human connectivity and PRIVATE CLUBS are in our culture and society today? My Sons elementary school teachers formed a 100 car caravan and rode through the neighborhood today just to say hi. All because the teachers (and the kids) missed the connection and relationships they have with each other. When this all passes, our club members will be coming back in droves as they yearn for the same relationships and connectivity. OUR CLUBS WILL BE READY.

They are the reason I come into work each day so it's been an adjustment for sure. As I turn my attention from the negative to the positive, I am focusing on doing things that bring me joy. One of those things is cooking and baking. After two years, I have finally opened my KitchenAid mixer (from my wedding registry) and put it to good use. # When The Going Gets Tough, Sawgrass CC Gets Creative

By Joanna DeChellis | March 25, 2020

By being agile and adaptable with how it continues to serve its members, Sawgrass CC is finding success despite challenges.

“Our biggest challenge is simply trying to figure out who has the better idea for the day. In all seriousness, I think our biggest challenge is going to be the unknown. Everything seems to change daily and every day we aren’t sure what the news is going to be or how we’re going to deal with it. Stephanie got married to Sean. They've been together for over a decade and finally tied the knot in Cancun, Mexico. My first destination wedding. Definitely different than what I imagined for my first destination wedding...

The lead up was stressful. The travel was stressful. The anticipation was stressful. But that party...WOW. One of the best weddings that I have ever been experienced! 🙌

Covy Cov, thanks for making this one the lasting memory to hold me through.

I don't have any "confirmed" events until May. And even then, it's all very much still up in the air...

We will be back. We will rage, we will laugh, we will unite and we will celebrate.

But when come back: buckle. your. seatbelts. 🔥
