

00:12:59 Susan: Hello from Drums, PA.
 00:13:33 Mo: hello from Newbury, Ohio
 00:14:05 Kate: hello from Oxford, Michigan
 00:14:35 Carolyn Crosby: hello from Anchorage.
 00:15:35 karen w: hello from Bethpage TN
 00:20:18 Cheryl: hello everyone from Saskatchewan Canada
 00:20:43 cayte: greetings from NYC
 00:20:56 Cecelia Landin: anyone from northwest Indiana?
 00:22:53 Cheryl: working on spirl socks today
 00:23:31 Malinda: HI Everyone - sorry I am late, lost track of time.
 00:26:24 Malinda: Pretty!!
 00:28:32 Carla Stanfield: hi everyone1
 00:29:25 coach: I'm hearing lots of feedback "chirping". Can we stay mute until we speak, please?
 00:30:16 Suzie: hi suzie from Montreal
 00:34:01 coach: Do you mean SILK club yarn, blue bag?
 00:34:56 Malinda: I am working on Bisquit top by Anne B. Hanssen in Malabrigio Susurro - don't have a web cam so will post a photo this weekend in FB.
 00:35:20 Amy Mendelblatt: I'm working on the chevron blanket
 00:40:43 coach: Can someone explain the easiest way to change the cable to a longer or shorter one while working in the round?
 00:41:22 lila: Suzie, I just tuned in - can you tell me the pattern you're making?
 00:41:48 Carla Stanfield: yes, I am using the cub yarn for the ridges! the pattern is called Painted Memory, by BookKnits
 00:50:06 Kirsten Hjort christensen: what is tattern?
 00:50:31 Cheryl: fine art of lace making
 00:50:31 Click Stars LLC: Tatting is a type of lace making
 00:51:02 Cheryl: tatting is a knot
 00:51:59 Kirsten Hjort christensen: i Found a translation to danish, i love tattern too
 00:52:25 Kirsten Hjort christensen: in danish it is orkis
 00:53:42 Malinda: just start knitting with the new one - new one in your right hand, old one in left
 00:54:31 Malinda: put the cable stop on one end and take that needle tip and put it on the other cable, then when you have knitted off the old cable, put he other tip on
 00:56:42 Malinda: can you magic loop?
 00:57:45 Fiona's iPad: no i cannot magic loop but always wanted to learn
 00:58:43 Malinda: I only learned recently and at first it is kind of weird, but once you get going it can be pretty useful for small diameter circular knitting...lots of youtube videos.
 01:04:36 Malinda: YAY!! Congratulations!
 01:14:59 Suzie: congratulations to all the winners and awesome prizes
 01:15:17 Suzie: it was great fun seeing everyone's work
 01:15:21 Carolyn Crosby: congrats! great to see the prizes!!
 01:15:26 Amy Mendelblatt: bye everyone! awesome prizes. so cool to see everyone's work. have a great week!
 01:15:30 Pam Holton: Carla, I missed your knit can you show it again
 01:16:07 susan: Congratulations all! It has been so much fun to see all the pictures. I'm off to make dinner!
 01:16:33 Malinda: have a great weekend everyone! congrats to all the winners - it was wonderful seeing everyone's projects this month!!
 01:17:25 coach: Thanks to Loops and look forward to being with all next week!
 01:17:54 coach: Thanks for any help you can give for forums use.
 01:18:09 Mo: Congratulations to the winners - lovely prizes. Bye and enjoy the weekend.
 01:22:03 Merrilie Albrecht: I couldn't find the pencil boxes. Only the ones for Knit Stars which is sold out
 01:23:46 Merrilie Albrecht: found it
